Don't miss this chance to help create Chattanooga's
Multimodal Transportation Future!

Thursday, September 24th, 2015 at 5:30 will be the last of three public workshops for CARTA's Multimodal Transportation Center Study.

Earlier this year CARTA launched this study to analyze existing bus routes and other opportunities to improve the region's public transportation. The first public workshop on April 30 gave people a chance to provide feedback on how the current system works and how it could be made more effective, including the potential to create one or more multimodal centers around the city.

Your input is now needed as important decisions will be made about transit system improvements and locations for a multimodal transportation center.

Please join us!

Study partners and supporters include the City of Chattanooga Department of Transportation, the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Regional Planning Agency, and the Benwood Foundation.

CARTA will provide free one-way bus passes to meeting attendees who would like to try using public transit and complimentary parking will be available at Shuttle Park South.

Light refreshments will be provided.
